Area farming families and members of the community took advantage of this year's Farmer's Breakfast sponsored by the Bracken County Ag Council at the Bracken County Extension Office. The members also offered a Budget Workshop to anyone who wanted to review different income and expense levels in cropping scenarios to determine the best options for them this coming season.

Sheriff alerts community to several ongoing scams

The Bracken County Sheriff's Office is asking that citizens be aware of a couple of phone scams that are going around. The first, is a scam where someone claiming to be a law enforcement official (US Marshall, FBI, Secret Service) advises the caller that they have committed a crime whether it be with credit card, checks or some other crime. The caller then advises that if this is not taken care of by sending a certain amount of money to them that an arrest warrant will be issued for them. The second, is where the caller states that they are an IRS agent and that there is outstanding taxes owed and that if it is not taken care of they will get a warrant for your arrest. Finally, there are calls going around stating that you have won a lot of money from American Cash Award or Publisher's Clearing House and in order to receive your prize you need to go to Walmart and send money for shipping and handling costs to them. These are all just attempts to get you to send them money which usually goes overseas and there is no way of tracking the caller or the money after it is sent. If they are asking you for money or for personal information (birth date, social security #, etc) over the phone, do not disclose any information as these are normally scam artists trying to get your money and information.

With spring comes a whole lot of other scams also known as gypsy scams. With these scams individuals will come around to ask to complete work for you to include but not limited to: new roofing; painting house or barn; blacktopping your driveway; remodeling your house; adding landscaping and trees; and many other repairs/work offers. These individuals will ask for money up front to pay for their supplies, labor, etc. If these are respectable contractors there is no money up front and they will only require a percentage based on work completed and some do not require payment until the job is completed. NEVER pay anything in advance and if you do give them money only pay for the work that has already been completed.

If you are going to be purchasing on Craigs List, Ebay, Amazon and other electronic means, it is always best to use a credit card and not a debit card. The credit card allows you to possibly recoup your money if the transaction turns out bad, debit cards does not allow this process to occur. We have had individuals that have purchased items and sent payment and then did not receive the item, and those that have sold items and the buyer will send a check that is larger than the purchase price asking the seller to send back the difference. Whenever you purchase or sell online you are taking a chance on getting scammed, especially if you are dealing with other individuals. If you are going to purchase online it is always best to use a credit card that you have the right to cancel the purchase, giving you some sense of security.

The main thing to remember is this, if it looks too good to be true it usually is. If they are asking you to send money to them or they are requesting any personal information from you, BEWARE as these are scam artists who are trying to take advantage of you. One of the biggest targets for these scams are our senior citizens because they feel that they are vulnerable and will fall for these tactics. Be vigilant and cautious when acting on information received from these individuals.

If you have any questions or need additional information on a possible scam contact the Sheriff's Office at 606-735-3233.

Thoughts and Meditations from the Scriptures

OBSERVE THE SABBATH

Even God had to rest after six days of labor, and the observance of the Sabbath, besides commemorating that day of divine rest, is instituted to give all who labor a rest from their toil. Notice how in the formulation from Exodus, the requirement is extended even to one's servants and animals: "Remember the Sabbath day by keeping it holy. Six days you shall labor and do all your work, but the seventh day is a Sabbath to the Lord your God. On it you shall not do any work, neither you, nor your son or daughter, nor your male or female servant, nor your animals, nor any foreigner residing in your towns." (Exodus 20:8-10) For those of us who are inclined to work seven days a week, this is surely a good rule. Everyone needs rest, and with work taken out of the picture we have time to worship, time to spend with family and friends, and time to recharge life's batteries. Throughout the Old Testament, we see unequivocal statements commanding us to observe the Sabbath, with plenty of warnings from the prophets if we don't. In the New Testament, however, we see a loosening of the particular rules governing the Sabbath, in essence saying that the Sabbath was instituted for us and should be observed as each person or church sees fit. ~ Christopher Simon

Then he said to them, 'The Sabbath was made for man, not man for the Sabbath. So the Son of Man is Lord even of the Sabbath.' Mark 2:27-28

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH OF AUGUSTA by Rita Bradford

Hello & God's Blessings from The First Baptist Church of Augusta. Brother Tony's sermon was taken from Luke 18:27 & 31-33. It was titled "We Have the Victory". Sometimes we get bogged down with everything that is going on around us. We have to step back & look at the big picture and realize it is not about what we can do. It is about what Jesus has already done for us.

We invite you to come join us & begin a new life with Christ by experiencing His resurrection power. Our services begin with Sunday School Classes 9:30 a.m. This week's lesson is titled "Resurrection Guaranteed". This lesson will help you understand the full power of Jesus' resurrection in your new life. Our Sunday Morning Worship begins 10:30 a.m. Sunday evening service on April 5th will be canceled so everyone can spend time with family & friends celebrating the Lord's Resurrection.

We invite all to come and worship with our family of believers. Sunday services begin with Sunday School at 10:00 a.m., morning worship at 11:00 a.m. and Sunday night services are held at 7:00 p.m.

This past Sunday we enjoyed a wonderful message from Brother Dan Black. Brother Black's message was taken from Matthew 26:36-46 and titled "As You Grow In Christ Are You Growing In His Will for Your Life?".

BROOKSVILLE CHRISTIAN by John Elfers

On Palm Sunday, as Jesus entered Jerusalem, the people shouted "Hosanna, Hosanna!" This word had two meanings - I beg you to save and please deliver us. Did they know who Jesus is? Do we know who Jesus is? In the Book of John, Jesus answers the question by telling us, "The Father is in Me, and I am in the Father". He also proved it by the miracles He performed and the authority in which He spoke. This Easter season is a perfect time to shout out to the world that Jesus has the power to transform us, to save us, and that He alone is the source of eternal salvation, for those who obey and know Him.

Everyone is invited to the Community "Easter Son Rise Service". We hope to see you there this Sunday morning at 7 a.m. Breakfast will be served immediately following service.

The Community Good Friday Service is this Friday at 2 p.m. at Brooksville United Methodist.

Youth minister, Shane Hunt, and some of our young people are hosting a Good Friday Passover Experience this Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall here at our church.

The Community Men's Breakfast is this Saturday at 7 a.m. at Brooksville Baptist Church.

Any questions, comments, or prayer requests? Please contact Ron Moser 606-782-2731, Shane Hunt 606-375-8419 or email: Brooksvillechristianchurch@windstream.net.

PRESBYTERIAN POTPOURRI by Les Grooms, pastor Augusta Presbyterian

Today was Palm Sunday. We started with the procession of the Palms. The children of the church march around waving Palm branches.

Last Monday night we had the largest gathering of people for the soup supper than we have had for a long time. We ran out of food.

The Lenten services are winding down this coming Wednesday. Last week we had the last service at the Presbyterian Church and this week it will be at St. Augustine.

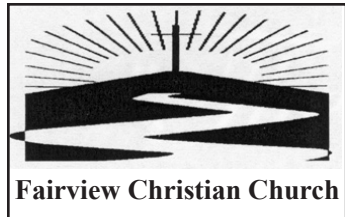

We had 59 in attendance this past week. Joyce Gibson was the liturgist, Susie Hargett led the singing, and Shelby England had children's church.

We had twenty-two Easter lilies decorating the sanctuary. These lilies are purchased in memory of someone by a friend or relative.

We are not having Sunday School next week because of the many visitors who will be with us. Members of the class will be bringing relatives and it takes time to get all of them ready.

We had a ceremony bringing Shirley Gallenstine into our fellowship. Shirley has been with us for quite a while doing so much for advancing Christ's kingdom and it just was appropriate to bring her into the full membership of the church. It is a special day when new members are brought into the fellowship.

Remember the food bank is open Friday mornings from 10-12 noon and on Monday night from 3:30 to 6:30. If there is a need, come and see us. Also we welcome donations of non-perishable food items. We do not get any government help and we depend upon the generosity of others.

EASTER EVENTS
Fairview Christian Church would like to invite you to our Maundy Thursday services. We will be presenting a live drama of "The Last Supper" on April 2nd at 7 p.m.

As the circumstances of Holy Week continue to grow dark and intense we pick up at dinnertime as we view Jesus and His disciples gathered together for a meal - their final meal together. Jesus had full knowledge of what was about to happen, and right before Judas reveals himself as the betrayer, right before all the events leading up to the crucifixion, He decides that His last command to His disciples - His friends - is to love one another.

Join us in remembering the last supper and the great love of Christ this Holy Week.

Our annual Easter Egg Hunt is on Saturday, April 4th beginning at 10 a.m. and ending around 12 noon.

Sunrise Services are April 5th at 6:30 a.m. and our special guest speaker is Evan Meyer. As always we will be having a big breakfast after. Also be sure to join us for Sunday School at 10 a.m. and morning worship at 11 a.m.

GREETINGS FROM ST. JAMES by Caroline Jefferson

If you can't stop by the Senior Citizen Center in Brooksville on Saturday between 1-4 p.m. to offer congratulations and well wishes, please send a card to him at 2949 Brooksville-Germantown Road, Brooksville. Our sincerest appreciation and love to Uncle Jake for his devotion to St. James Parish!

Holy Thursday Mass begins at 6 p.m. at St. James and at 8 p.m. at St. Augustine. Good Friday Services will begin at noon at St. Augustine on Friday and at 2 p.m. at St. James. There are no other services at either church on this day. Good Friday is truly a day of penance, fasting and reflection to be spent as much as possible in thoughts and prayers for the sacrifices Jesus made for all mankind.

May this Easter Sunday dawn with renewed hope and anticipation of many graces as we reflect on the glorious Resurrection of Our Savior, Jesus Christ! And may our Risen Savior bless all those military men and women who protect our freedom to worship this Easter morning!

FARMERETTES

The Farmerettes Homemakers met Mar. 16 at 4 p.m. at Madeline Burgoon's home. Pres. Connie Bowling opened our meeting and Carolyn Taylor had the devotional entitled "The Thank You Note". Roll call was answered by naming a famous Irish man. Madeline said she had been married to an Irish man for many years. Patty Ann Moorhead read the minutes and Madeline gave the treas. report. Connie updated everyone on future events & dates. We discussed what our club will donate for the Homemaker Quarter Auction on Fri., Apr. 17 at the Extension Office. There will be food for sale including walking tacos, which many of our members wanted to know, what is that? Those who had eaten them assured the others that they are really good. We enjoyed a game that Carolyn had for us.

Patty Ann presented a very interesting lesson concerning our use of energy (electric, gas, geothermal, etc.) in our homes. We learned that an average family spends approx. $2200 a year on the home's energy needs unless they have geothermal. Most of the energy is used to heat & cook. Look for the Energy Star when purchasing a new appliance. We can do several things to conserve energy. The average home has 40 products continually drawing energy. Check to see how many lights remain on all the time including our electronics. We should turn off what we can after using them. Even though they are turned off, they still draw energy in order to come on quickly.

Our next meeting is Apr. 13 at 4 p.m. at Carol Klaber's home. Others present were Virginia Bowles, Audrey McKinney and Sue Baker.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

Hi, my name is Zach Tatum and I am 14 years old. My mom is donating a kidney to a very close friend of hers and she has to raise $3,000 to cover the cost of travel, lodging and food. The surgery will take place in Winston-Salem, NC on June 2, 2015.

One of our fundraising efforts was doing a trash pickup in Bracken County, KY. We were assigned 3 miles on Vermillion Road. My experience with picking up trash was very bad because it is just horrible that people can throw stuff out of their cars like that especially when they live on that road. People need to be responsible and put trash in garbage cans and not on the ground.

The majority of what we picked up were beer bottles. This is not only irresponsible but also very scary because it means that people are drinking and driving. Usually only bad things result from drinking and driving plus it is against the law.

So if you ask me about my experience, I would say that it tells me that people do not care about their environment or how their neighborhoods look. Also, they do not care about their safety or the safety of others.

*Sincerely,
 Zach Tatum

Celebrate Arbor Day in Bracken County by planting a tree

Bracken County Judge Executive Earl Bush signed a proclamation on Monday, March 30th proclaiming Friday, April 3, 2015 as Arbor Day in Bracken County.

According to the proclamation provided by Ranger Michael Carter with the Kentucky division of forestry, the Commonwealth of Kentucky is blessed with diverse forests that extend from the hardwood forests of the east to the cypress sloughs of the west. Kentucky's forest products are a 12.8 billion dollar green industry employing over 59,000 people, proving, trees are a sustainable resource providing significant environmental and economic benefits to Kentuckians.

Trees enhance our air quality, purify our water resources, protect our soil, supply a source of renewable energy, and provide valuable wildlife habitats. Forests also improve our health by offering a place of recreation and solace. Trees and healthy forests not only enhance the quality of life for all Kentuckians, but they provide future generations with a more beautiful Kentucky in which our shared health and well-being are sustained by this great natural resource - our forests.

States celebrate Arbor Day on different days throughout the month of April. Kentucky Arbor Day is celebrated the first Friday in April and National Arbor Day is celebrated on the last Friday of April. In 2015 that date is April 24th.

KY State Fair debuts New Website & New Promotion ahead of 2015 Fair

The Kentucky State Fair launched its newly redesigned website and logo. The updated online presence of the 11-day event gives a fresh take on the 110-year fair.

The user-friendly website highlights new information including new promotions for this year's fair. Carload Day will be offered until 5 p.m. on both Thursdays of the Fair. Fairgoers pay only $20 for an entire vehicle which includes parking. In addition, Sunday, August 23 is Military Sunday, which was changed to a weekend day to accommodate more military personnel and their families. Military families get 50 percent off admission with valid military I.D.

Clifford "Rip" Rippetoe, president and CEO for the Kentucky State Fair Board, said that a major factor in the decision to redesign the site was "to highlight an effort to update everything about the Fair from top to bottom."

"Fairgoers want more information and a better value," Rippetoe said. "The new site, which was developed in-house, and the new promotions are in response to that."

The last Carload Day promotion took place in 2001 when vehicles were admitted for $7 plus parking before noon.

The Kentucky State Fair is August 20-30 at the Kentucky Exposition Center. For more information visit www.kystatefair.org

Graduating high school seniors can “buy one, get one free” at MCTC

Maysville Community and Technical College (MCTC) is making college even more affordable this summer for graduating high school seniors.

The high school class of 2015 can enroll in classes and “buy one, get one free” with the High School Senior Summer Scholarship. The BOGO scholarship covers the cost of one summer class when a student pays for one, a savings of $441.

“This scholarship makes college more affordable and allows students to take classes this summer close to home, no matter what their college plans are for August,” said Cara Clarke, MCTC Scholarship Coordinator. Students can take face-to-face classes at any of our campuses or on-line that will transfer to the four-year college or university of their choice.”

There is a limited number of scholarships available and students are encouraged to complete the online scholarship application as soon as possible. Students can find the scholarship application on the college’s website at www.maysville.kctcs.edu under Costs and Financial Aid.

Registration for summer classes is now open. To schedule a registration appointment, contact Master Advising at 606-759-7141 ext. 66251.

For scholarship questions, contact Cara Clarke at 606-759-7141 ext. 66176.

Watch Third Season of Mother Nature’s Reality Show at Mill Creek

Live web cam catches five peregrine falcon eggs inside the nest box

With the spring season officially here, a peregrine falcon nesting pair is awaiting their five eggs to hatch inside the nest box at Louisville Gas and Electric Company’s Mill Creek Generating Station. But, the couple is not alone in anticipation because they’ve attracted more than 12,000 web cam viewers this season.

LG&E and Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources installed the state’s first peregrine falcon web cam inside the nest box in 2013. Since the web cam first launched, it has drawn nearly 200,000 viewers over the last three seasons.

Viewers can watch live this year as the pair cares for their eggs. During a typical season, the eggs are incubated by both the female and male falcon for about 33 days before hatching, which should take place in the coming weeks.

The Mill Creek nest box was installed 9 years ago by KDFWR in the window of a concrete power plant stack about 300 feet above ground.

Peregrine falcons remain federally protected by the Migratory Bird Treaty Act, and KDFWR has placed nest boxes at many sites throughout Kentucky, including locations at LG&E and Kentucky Utilities Company’s Trimble County, Cane Run, Mill Creek, Ghent and E.W. Brown power plants.

Power plant crevices and alcoves remind the falcons of natural nesting locations, such as mountain cliffs and ledges, and attract ample food supply of pigeons and starlings.

For more than 20 years, LG&E and KU employees have ensured the nest boxes at the power plants provide a safe setting for peregrine falcons to prosper. More than 100 falcons have hatched from these nest boxes.

Efforts to support these magnificent birds of prey are part of LG&E and KU’s comprehensive avian protection plan, which was adopted in 2008, to help protect birds from coming in contact with company equipment and power lines.

Through cross-department collaboration, employees protect birds and nests, use bird-safe methods when possible and participate in local protection programs.

Watch the falcon pair live from the LG&E and KU website, lge-ku.com/environment/mill-creek-falcon-cam.

Debris Clean Up Safety Tips

Provided by: Neider Reynolds, Coordinator
Bracken County Emergency Management

Mild spring weather can have a down side after a hard winter. On sunny days people tend to take advantage and do outside chores, which may include burning debris left by last winter's ice storm. These fires can be, and often are dangerous, even deadly.

During a two-day period of good weather, two separate deaths resulted from debris fires. A man died after his clothing caught on fire, and a fatal heart attack came from efforts to put out a debris fire that had spread to a house. A third death came not long afterward. On the other side of the state, an uncontrolled debris fire caused a gas line to explode, killing the man tending the fire.

These tragedies point to a larger problem, warn officials of the Kentucky Division of Emergency Management, the Federal Emergency Management Agency and the Kentucky Division of Forestry. Wildfires large and small tend to follow storms that leave woody debris. Uncontrolled burning of debris has caused many injuries and ruined many acres that are not publicized like the high-profile cases described above.

"In early spring," said Leah MacSwords, director of the Kentucky Division of Forestry, "most vegetation is dead, brown and highly combustible. There is also very little green vegetation to serve as a barrier for spreading wildfire. We try to remind people of these conditions and we strongly discourage them from conducting any type of outdoor burning."

As the weather warms and recovery from the ice storm progresses, remember the do's and don'ts of debris burning:

- When...
- When the weather's wrong, don't burn. If it's windy, sparks can fly. If it's dry, flames can spread.

- When a burn ban is in effect, heed it. Kentucky is under a burn ban each year in the driest months. Sites within 150 feet of wooded areas are allowed fires only in evening hours, between 6:00 p.m. and 6:00 a.m. The yearly ban periods are Oct. 1 through Dec. 15 and (now in effect) Feb. 15 through April 30. Also, check local ordinances for any special restrictions.

What...

- Have the proper equipment ready. Be ready to drown the fire with water from an adequate source or bury it with a shovel.
- If possible, have additional assistance with you. How...
- Before burning contact your local fire department and advise them of your intent.
- Choose a burn location that is not under trees or other overhead hazards.
- Be sure it is not near utility lines, some of which may be buried out of sight.
- Separate debris into small, manageable burn piles.
- Locate burn piles an adequate distance from one another, and from structures.
- Make sure a radius of at least 10 feet is cleared around a burn.
- Stay with the fire. Watch continuously until it is completely out.
- If the wind rises or the fire seems to be spreading, put it out immediately.

For more information visit the Kentucky Division of Forestry's website, forestry.ky.gov/ or call the local office of the Kentucky Division of Forestry.

ACS to Kentuckians: Colorectal cancer highly preventable, detectable, treatable

Almost 2,100 Kentuckians are expected to be diagnosed with colorectal cancer this year and 850 deaths are estimated in the state for 2015, according to the American Cancer Society.

Colorectal cancer is the nation's third-leading cause of cancer-related death for both men and women; however it is one of the few forms of cancer that is highly preventable, detectable and treatable.

Through proper colorectal cancer screening, doctors can find and remove hidden growths (called "polyps") in the colon, before they become cancerous. Removing polyps can prevent cancer altogether.

The American Cancer Society is helping to increase colorectal cancer screening rates by supporting the "80 percent by 2018" initiative. The Society joins with the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and the National Colorectal Cancer Roundtable (NCCRT) to rally organizations to embrace this shared goal.

Nearly 200 organizations have committed to eliminating colorectal cancer as a major public health problem. They are working toward the shared goal of 80 percent of adults aged 50 and older being regularly screened for colorectal cancer by 2018. Last year in the U.S., 137,000 cases of colorectal cancer were diagnosed.

"We have found that many people aren't getting tested because they don't believe they are at risk, don't understand that there are testing options or don't think they can afford it," said Greg Broy, spokesperson for the American Cancer Society in Kentucky.

"The truth is that the vast majority of cases of colorectal cancer occur in people age 50 and older. Colorectal cancer in its early stages usually has no symptoms, so everyone 50 and older should get tested," said Broy.

Broy explained several screening options are available, even take home options. Plus, he said many public and private insurance plans cover colorectal cancer screening and there may be local resources available to help those that are uninsured.

"We are asking all Kentuckians to come together and help us by getting screened and talking to your friends and family who are over 50 years of age about getting screened. Together, we can help to eliminate colorectal cancer as a major public health problem," said Broy.

For more information or to learn about area resources, visit cancer.org/colon or call the American Cancer Society at 1-800-227-2345.

TRASH TALK

by: Mr. Recycle Bin & Ms. Pick-Up Litterbug
606-735-9960

Howdy Folks! What a surprise! We drove to Brooksville this morning and there was absolutely no litter on the roads! When we got to the trailers for pickup, all the boxes were broken down; there wasn't one sign of styrofoam, and not one piece of trash! Wow! We couldn't believe it - and you shouldn't either because this was our feeble attempt at an April fool's joke! Most of you will be reading this on Thursday, so hopefully this was the last joke you will have to endure until next year! At the rate time is flying by, that time will be here in a flash as has Uncle Jacob Bauer's 90th birthday which he will be celebrating this Sat., April 4! Congratulations and best wishes to him and all those enjoying an April birthday!

During the month of April, our Litter Patrol Groups will be out to rid the roads of all the accumulated winter litter. How sad that our citizenship does not have a pride in our beautiful rural county! Population numbers for Bracken County are less than 10,000 yet the road sides look as if ten times that many live here! Please take time to notice all the trash and litter strewn about when you are driving in Bracken. Littering is a terrible habit and if you are a litterbug, you are teaching your children, grandchildren or any passenger this bad habit! If someone did not come along and pick up after your sorry actions, then before too long, all ditches would be filled! Anyone that has taken the time to look along the river and creek banks after our recent flooding has witnessed how much litter chokes our waterways! Roadside litter is carried to waterways and waterways carry it eventually to the oceans! All this can be avoided by simply not littering! If YOU are a litterbug, please reconsider, don't litter!

One product that consistently ends up as litter is the aluminum can. 100 billion cans are produced in the U.S. each year but less than 50% of them are recycled! 33 cans constitute a pound of cans and recycling just one of those cans saves enough electricity to run a television for three hours; whereas, it will take the energy equivalent of running a laptop computer for eleven hours to replace that one can from virgin material. 1.5 million tons of aluminum cans are wasted worldwide each year and in the U.S. alone, the energy it takes to replace those discarded cans is equivalent to wasting 16 million barrels of oil. That is enough oil to keep one million cars on the road for one year! If all those discarded aluminum cans were recycled every year, the electricity saved to create new cans could power 1.3 million homes! You get the picture! If you don't recycle anything else, at least recycle your aluminum cans! There are many organizations who sell them as part of their fundraising and many families use 'can-cash' for all the many extras that young families need!

Once again we are privileged to know the love of God and to celebrate that love this week through the meditations on His Son's life, death and resurrection! It is through the sufferings and death of Jesus that we, like many families and friends before us, will experience the happiness of eternal life! May we each be blessed this Easter Sunday and may we show appreciation for the gift of our mortal and eternal lives by RECYCLING, REUSING and REDUCING to keep God's earth clean, green and beautiful! Be seein' you ~ Bin & Bug.

Frankfort Focus

A Legislative Perspective on the Kentucky General Assembly
State Rep. Mike Denham

In one way, the bills filed each legislative session are not much different from the teams taking part in the NCAA basketball tournaments. Some advance, while others find out that this is not their year.

There is one key difference in the General Assembly's version of March Madness, however: More than one "winner" is crowned.

Two of those to pass early last week are landmark laws that will help Kentucky counter a steep rise in heroin addiction and that will make several new groups of victims eligible for civil protective orders. Both cleared the General Assembly on the session's final night.

The heroin legislation is crucial because we are losing hundreds of Kentuckians a year to that and other illegal drugs, and thousands more are caught in addiction's deadly grip. In ways large and small, we all pay a price.

Several of my legislative colleagues talked about the grief they experienced after their loved ones died because of a heroin overdose, and we know there are many more like them. We also heard from law enforcement, corrections officials, healthcare professionals, judges and victims advocates who said we are facing a trend that cannot continue. In addressing their concerns, I was proud to be part of the small working group in the House that helped write much of what became Senate Bill 192.

Gov. Beshear signed that legislation into law just hours after the bill cleared the legislature. With it, the state will take a two-pronged approach to reverse that tide. First, we will broaden treatment, which studies have shown is crucial to reduce the number of addicts. As a result, they will have more options in jail if arrested and also through Medicaid and our community mental health centers.

Pregnant women who are addicted will see a renewed focus on treatment, and there will be an increased use of two miracle drugs: naloxone, which can reverse heroin overdoses if administered in time, and Vivitrol, which is being hailed as an actual cure.

Two initiatives new to Kentucky, but not to many other states, will provide "Good Samaritan" protections and a local-option needle exchange program. The former will give legal immunity to fellow addicts who may otherwise be hesitant to call an ambulance for an overdose victim, while the latter will allow communities to decide whether they want this type of program. Many addicts who share needles are much more prone to becoming infected with blood-borne diseases like HIV and Hepatitis C, and there is also a growing prevalence of dirty needles sticks among the public and law enforcement. An exchange program can help limit that.

Beyond treatment, this new law also increases penalties for those selling heroin to others. Selling two grams or less of heroin will remain a Class D felony, which is punishable by one to five years in prison, but those found to be commercial traffickers will face a much higher threshold before being eligible for probation or parole.

Under another new provision, those selling more than 100 grams will now face a Class "B" felony, which calls for a 10- to 20-year prison term, and any amount brought to Kentucky from another state and sold here will now be a Class "C" felony, which calls for a five- to 10-year term.

Because this law has an emergency clause, it takes effect immediately, and the General Assembly also set aside $10 million extra to begin funding these programs quickly. Once they're up and running, they will be paid with savings generated from 2011's far-reaching criminal-justice reforms.

As we move forward with this law, we also will begin allowing three new groups of victims to qualify for a civil protective order: those abused by someone they are dating and those being stalked or who have been sexually assaulted.

Many states already include these groups in their protective orders, which have been shown to limit violence and reduce criminal justice costs. This change will put Kentucky back on the path as a national leader in reducing domestic violence.

Another new law from last week will stabilize funding for our state and local roads by setting a new "floor" on revenues generated at the gas pump. Had we not acted, we could have lost about a third of highway funding from the level it was at a little more than a year ago. That would have severely limited highway construction and maintenance.

Two other laws to pass last week are also transportation-related. One extends the age and height requirements for booster seats, which will now apply to young children through the age of seven and up to 57 inches in height. The other will set new requirements for ignition interlock systems, which courts use to make sure those convicted of DUI do not drive drunk again if given permission to drive.

On a personal note, one of the bills I sponsored – House Bill 348 – became law. It makes some sensible changes to the requirements the General Assembly established for our quasi-government districts two years ago to increase transparency and accountability. Now, some of these smaller districts, like our volunteer fire departments, will have less paperwork and less audit requirements, which will save these districts thousands of dollars across the commonwealth.

Although our time enacting legislation is over, the General Assembly is always monitoring issues affecting the state. If you would like to let me know your thoughts or concerns about any of these, my address is Room 329E, Capitol Annex, 702 Capitol Avenue, Frankfort, KY 40601; or you can email me at Mitchel.Denham@lrc.ky.gov.

To leave a message for me or for any legislator by phone, please call 800-372-7181. For those with a hearing impairment, the number is 800-896-0305.

I hope to hear from you soon.

Attorney General Conway announces indictment & arrest of Falmouth Police Chief for Abuse of Public Trust

Attorney General Jack Conway announced the indictment and arrest of Mark Lane Posey, Former Chief of Police in Falmouth, Ky following an investigation by Attorney General Conway's Department of Criminal Investigations (DCI). Posey was Chief of Police from March 2008 until his resignation February 5, 2015.

On Tuesday, a Franklin County grand jury returned an indictment charging Posey with the following:

- Abuse of Public Trust Over $10,000, a Class C Felony
- Theft by Unlawful Taking – Firearm, a Class D Felony
- Criminal Possession of a Forged Instrument Second Degree (70 COUNTS), Class D Felonies
- Theft by Deception Under $500, a Class A Misdemeanor

According to the indictment, from March 2008 to December 2014, Posey is alleged to have taken over $10,000 in funds from a drug task force account. Posey allegedly solicited donations from local businesses for drug cases and deposited the funds into one account. Posey would allegedly write checks out of that account for cash and keep the funds for personal use. Posey is alleged to have forged the signature of a co-signor to the account. Also, Posey allegedly purchased a gun with Falmouth Police department funds approved by city council and then sold the gun to a friend for a higher amount.

Posey was arrested today and is being held in the Franklin County Regional Jail on a $10,000 bond. Posey faces a maximum sentence of 20 years in prison.

Attorney General Conway's Office of Special Prosecutions is handling the prosecution of this case.

Bracken County has been awarded federal funds made available through the Department of Homeland Security (DHS)/Federal Emergency Management Agency under the Emergency Food and Shelter National Board Program.

Bracken County has been chosen to receive $10,570.00 to supplement emergency food and shelter programs in the county.

The selection was made by a National Board that is chaired by the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) and consists of representatives from The Salvation Army; American Red Cross; United Jewish Communities; Catholic Charities, USA; National Council of the Churches of Christ in the USA; and the United Way of America. The Local Board was charged to distribute funds appropriated by Congress to help expand the capacity of food and shelter programs in high-need areas around the country.

A Local Board made up of local government, Charitable Organizations, Homeless, Church Organizations, Family Service Organizations, Aging Council and Licking Valley C.A.P. staff will determine how the funds awarded to Bracken County are to be distributed.

Bracken Co. has distributed Emergency Food and Shelter funds previously with Licking Valley C.A.P. participating in that distribution. This agency was responsible for providing food, utilities and lodging.

Under the terms of the grant from the National Board, local agencies chosen to receive funds must: 1) be private voluntary non-profits or units of government, 2) be eligible to receive Federal funds, 3) have an accounting system, 4) practice nondiscrimination, 5) have demonstrated the capability to deliver emergency food and/or shelter programs, and 6) if they are a private voluntary organization, they must have a voluntary board.

Public or private voluntary agencies interested in applying for Emergency Food and Shelter Program funds must contact Sandy Hunley at 110 Grandview Drive, Brooksville, KY. (606) 735-2948 for an application. The deadline for application is April 8, 2015.

Bracken County Farmline

USDA Extends ARC and PLC Deadlines
Farmers Have Until
April 7 to Update Yields,
Reallocate Base Acres, and Make Final Selections

Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack today provided farm owners and producers one additional week, until April 7, 2015, to choose between Agriculture Risk Coverage (ARC) and Price Loss Coverage (PLC), the safety-net programs established by the 2014 Farm Bill. The final day to update yield history or reallocate base acres also will be April 7, 2015.

"This is an important decision for producers because these programs help farmers and ranchers protect their operations from unexpected changes in the marketplace," said Vilsack. "Nearly 98 percent of owners have already updated yield and base acres, and 90 percent of producers have enrolled in ARC or PLC. These numbers are strong, and continue to rise. This additional week will give producers a little more time to have those final conversations, review their data, visit their local Farm Service Agency offices, and make their decisions," said Vilsack.

If no changes are made to yield history or base acres by the deadline, the farm's current yield and base acres will be used. If a program choice of ARC or PLC is not made, there will be no 2014 crop year payments for the farm and the farm will default to PLC coverage for the 2015 through 2018 crop years. Producers who have an appointment at their local FSA offices scheduled by April 7 will be able to make an election between ARC and PLC, even if their actual appointment is after April 7.

These safety-net programs provide important financial protection against unexpected changes in the marketplace. As part of the strong education and outreach campaign launched by the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) in September, to date more than 5 million educational postcards, in English and Spanish, have been sent to producers nationwide, and more than 5,000 events with more than 430,000 attendees, including training sessions and speaking engagements, have been conducted to educate producers on the programs. The online tools, available at www.fsa.usda.gov/arc-plc, which allow producers to explore how ARC or PLC coverage will affect their operation, have been presented to more than 3,400 groups.

Covered commodities under ARC and PLC include barley, canola, large and small chickpeas, corn, crambe, flaxseed, grain sorghum, lentils, mustard seed, oats, peanuts, dry peas, rapeseed, long grain rice, medium grain rice (which includes short grain and sweet rice), safflower seed, sesame, soybeans, sunflower seed and wheat. Upland cotton is no longer a covered commodity.

Producers need to contact the Farm Service Agency by April 7. To learn more, farmers can contact their local Farm Service Agency county office. To find local offices, visit <http://offices.usda.gov>.

The 2014 Farm Bill builds on historic economic gains in rural America over the past six years, while achieving meaningful reform and billions of dollars in savings for the taxpayer. Since enactment, the U.S. Department of Agriculture has made significant progress to implement each provision of this critical legislation, including providing disaster relief to farmers and ranchers; strengthening risk management tools; expanding access to rural credit; funding critical research; establishing innovative public-private conservation partnerships; developing new markets for rural-made products; and investing in infrastructure, housing and community facilities to help improve quality of life in rural America. Kentucky National Dairy Show and Sale returns April 9-11 to KY Exposition Center

The Kentucky National Dairy Show and Sale will return to the Kentucky Exposition Center's Pavilion for its 53rd edition April 9-11.

"This event gives buyers a chance to purchase from some of the best cow families in the business and provides an opportunity for dairy cattle producers from all over the nation to showcase their herd's genetics," Agriculture Commissioner James Comer said.

Total sales last year grossed $453,000 with an average of $2,409 per head, said Ethan Berry, the Kentucky Department of Agriculture's dairy coordinator.

The three-day event is free and open to the public. Five breeds will be shown and sold: Ayrshire/Milking Shorthorn, Brown Swiss, Guernsey, Holstein, and Jersey.

Online bidding is available for all sales except Brown Swiss by logging onto www.jerseyauctionlive.com to register and bid during the sales. "This is the most participation that we have had with it," Berry said.

The show and sale schedule (all times EDT) is:

- Thursday, April 9: Holstein; show at 10 a.m.; sale at 12:30 p.m.

- Friday, April 10: Brown Swiss; show at 9 a.m.; sale at 11 a.m.

- Friday, April 10: Guernsey; show at 11 a.m.; sale at 2 p.m.

- Friday, April 10: Ayrshire/Milking Shorthorn; show at 1 p.m.; sale at 4 p.m.

- Saturday, April 11: Jersey; show at 10 a.m.; sale at noon

The event will include complimentary refreshments and a silent auction. For more information, contact Berry at (502) 782-4134 or ethan.berry@ky.gov.

The Greenhouse in Gertrude a 2015 Roadside Farm Market

The Greenhouse in Gertrude of Bracken County is one of the 98 certified farm markets across the Commonwealth recently accepted into the 2015 Kentucky Farm Bureau (KFB) Certified Roadside Farm Market Program.

In joining the KFB Certified Roadside Farm Market Program, The Greenhouse in Gertrude has committed to offering quality products and service to its customers. Its acceptance by Farm Bureau tells customers that The Greenhouse in Gertrude meets the highest standards of quality, freshness, and marketing appeal.

The Greenhouse in Gertrude grows and sells a variety of flower and vegetable plants from April to June at their location on Augusta-Berlin Road. Augusta-Berlin road is just off the AA Highway, customers can turn onto Highway 875 (Mt. Zion Road) and take a left at the stop sign and the Greenhouse in Gertrude will be on the left. For more information on the Greenhouse in Gertrude call (606) 782-0033.

"As consumer demand for locally grown and raised products continues to rise, Kentucky Farm Bureau's Certified Roadside Farm Market Program fills a niche for both the consumer and the farmer," said Mark Haney, president of KFB. "We are certainly proud of all that this program has done to connect Kentucky's farmers to consumers who want to buy and prepare local food for their families."

Markets certified through this program are identified by the cornucopia logo and listed in the KFB Certified Roadside Farm Market Directory. The program also provides collective advertising, promotional items, education tour opportunities, and other marketing benefits with the intent to increase the net farm income of member markets.

Brochures that list all of the Certified Roadside Farm Markets across the state are available at Kentucky welcome centers, state resort parks, local chambers of commerce/tourism centers and county Farm Bureau offices. Consumers can also go to the 2015 Certified Roadside Farm Market website – kyfb.com/roadside – for a complete list of markets.
